Latest Developments

Political Developments

- In a statement from the head of the political team of Saif Ghaddafi, it was claimed that Ghaddafi politically communicates with 'all' countries and not just Russia. It was also explained that he has no objection to dealing with communicating with both Washington and London as long as there is respect for the principle of not interfering in Libyan affairs. He also denied that any foreign nation provides either security or financing for Ghaddafi and that this propaganda was an attempt to damage his 'great' popularity.

Security Developments

- The Libyan National Safety Authority announced the disposal of unexploded ordnance from three locations. Two artillery shells were disposed of in the al-Sayeh area in Tripoli, a hand grenade in Zawiyah and an RPG projectile in Sabratha.
- Increased tensions were reported in the Zawiyah area after the arrest of the brother of Zawiyah Coastguard commander, Rahman Milad (Bidja) by the SSA Western Branch. Bidja's brother was arrested on migrant smuggling charges. The Bidja faction has demanded his release and has threatened to take action against the SSA in Abu Sura.

Regional Developments

- The spokesman for the Libyan National Initiative, Muhammed Shubar, warned that the conflict in Sudan poses a danger to Libyan security and claimed that this was due to the support LNA Commander Khalifa Haftar and Wagner Group were providing to the Rapid Support Force.
- The Sudanese Government has called on Libya to condemn the Rapid Support Force. Additionally, following an offer from Foreign Minister Najla Mangoush to mediate in the conflict, the Sudanese Embassy in Tripoli released a statement stressing that the issue was an internal issue and called for no external interference.

Economic Developments

- The Benghazi-based CBL announced that the Tripoli-based CBL had delivered a total of 4.6 billion LYD to eastern commercial banks between Jan-Apr 2023. The announcement explained that this had been conducted within the framework designed to alleviate the liquidity crisis in the East.

Travel Developments

- Libya's Air Traffic Controllers threatened to disrupt flights from May 01 if their demands to the GNU are not met. In a statement, the union indicated that its members planned to stage a sit-in, and suspend air traffic control services. The controllers are demanding that they are included within the unified salary scale and for inclusion on medical insurance.

Outlook

Short Term Outlook

- Libya remains locked in a political impasse with two governments, both of which are slowly weakening. The House of Representatives (HoR) and the High Council of State (HCS) continue to dominate the current political scene, with their efforts to resolve key issues like the constitution taking centre stage. SRSG Abdoulaye Bathily is attempting to wrest some control away from the two entities in a bid to make progress towards elections in 2023, however, they continue to enjoy the support of key regional and international backers. Various factions are beginning to position themselves for expected change in 2023 as the UN continues to push towards elections, while regional and global issues, not least the Ukraine offensive, continue to shape the international communities' agendas in Libya.
- The security situation in and around Tripoli remains fundamentally unstable. After significant changes to the capital's security makeup in August and September 2022, new faultlines are emerging as militia commanders continue to consolidate their positions. This includes expanding their influence through ministries and other state apparatus. In addition, plans to reconstruct Tripoli International Airport threaten to destabilise the delicate balance of power in the city with Misratan entities looking to claim significant influence over the location. The resurgence of Jihadist Salafism in Tripolitania is also a potential source of destabilisation, one which is currently being felt in Tajura and along the north-west coastline. This instability along the coastline may be positively impacted by efforts in Zawiyah to reorganise armed groups which could increase cooperation. Armed groups in Tripoli continue to be empowered via financial, military, and political means, ensuring they will continue to exert significant influence over the political situation.

Medium to Long Term Outlook

- The solution to Libya's political impasse remains elections for many stakeholders with UNSMIL attempting to develop a new pathway. Realistically, the path to elections in 2023 will be fraught with difficulties however, there is a real chance that much-needed groundwork could be achieved. While UNSMIL heads efforts towards elections, other international stakeholders are prioritising more short-term objectives as they look to shape not just Libya, but regional and global issues.
- Terrorist groups remain active but contained in Libya. Islamic State (IS) will continue to present a threat to security forces, primarily in the south, and may re-establish the capability to mount sporadic attacks along the coastline in the future. The group continues to suffer from years of attrition and is more likely focused on providing support for more active IS theatres in sub-Saharan Africa. Al-Qaeda-aligned groups remain active in the country with their integration into societies in the south and some armed groups in the Tripoli area potentially posing a longer-term issue for Libya.
